Coloring Book

The 99 Adventures in the Bible's Big Story Coloring Book is designed to be used in conjunction with the book, 99 Adventures in the Bible's Big Story. The 99 stories of this curriculum correspond with the 99 coloring pages of this coloring book.

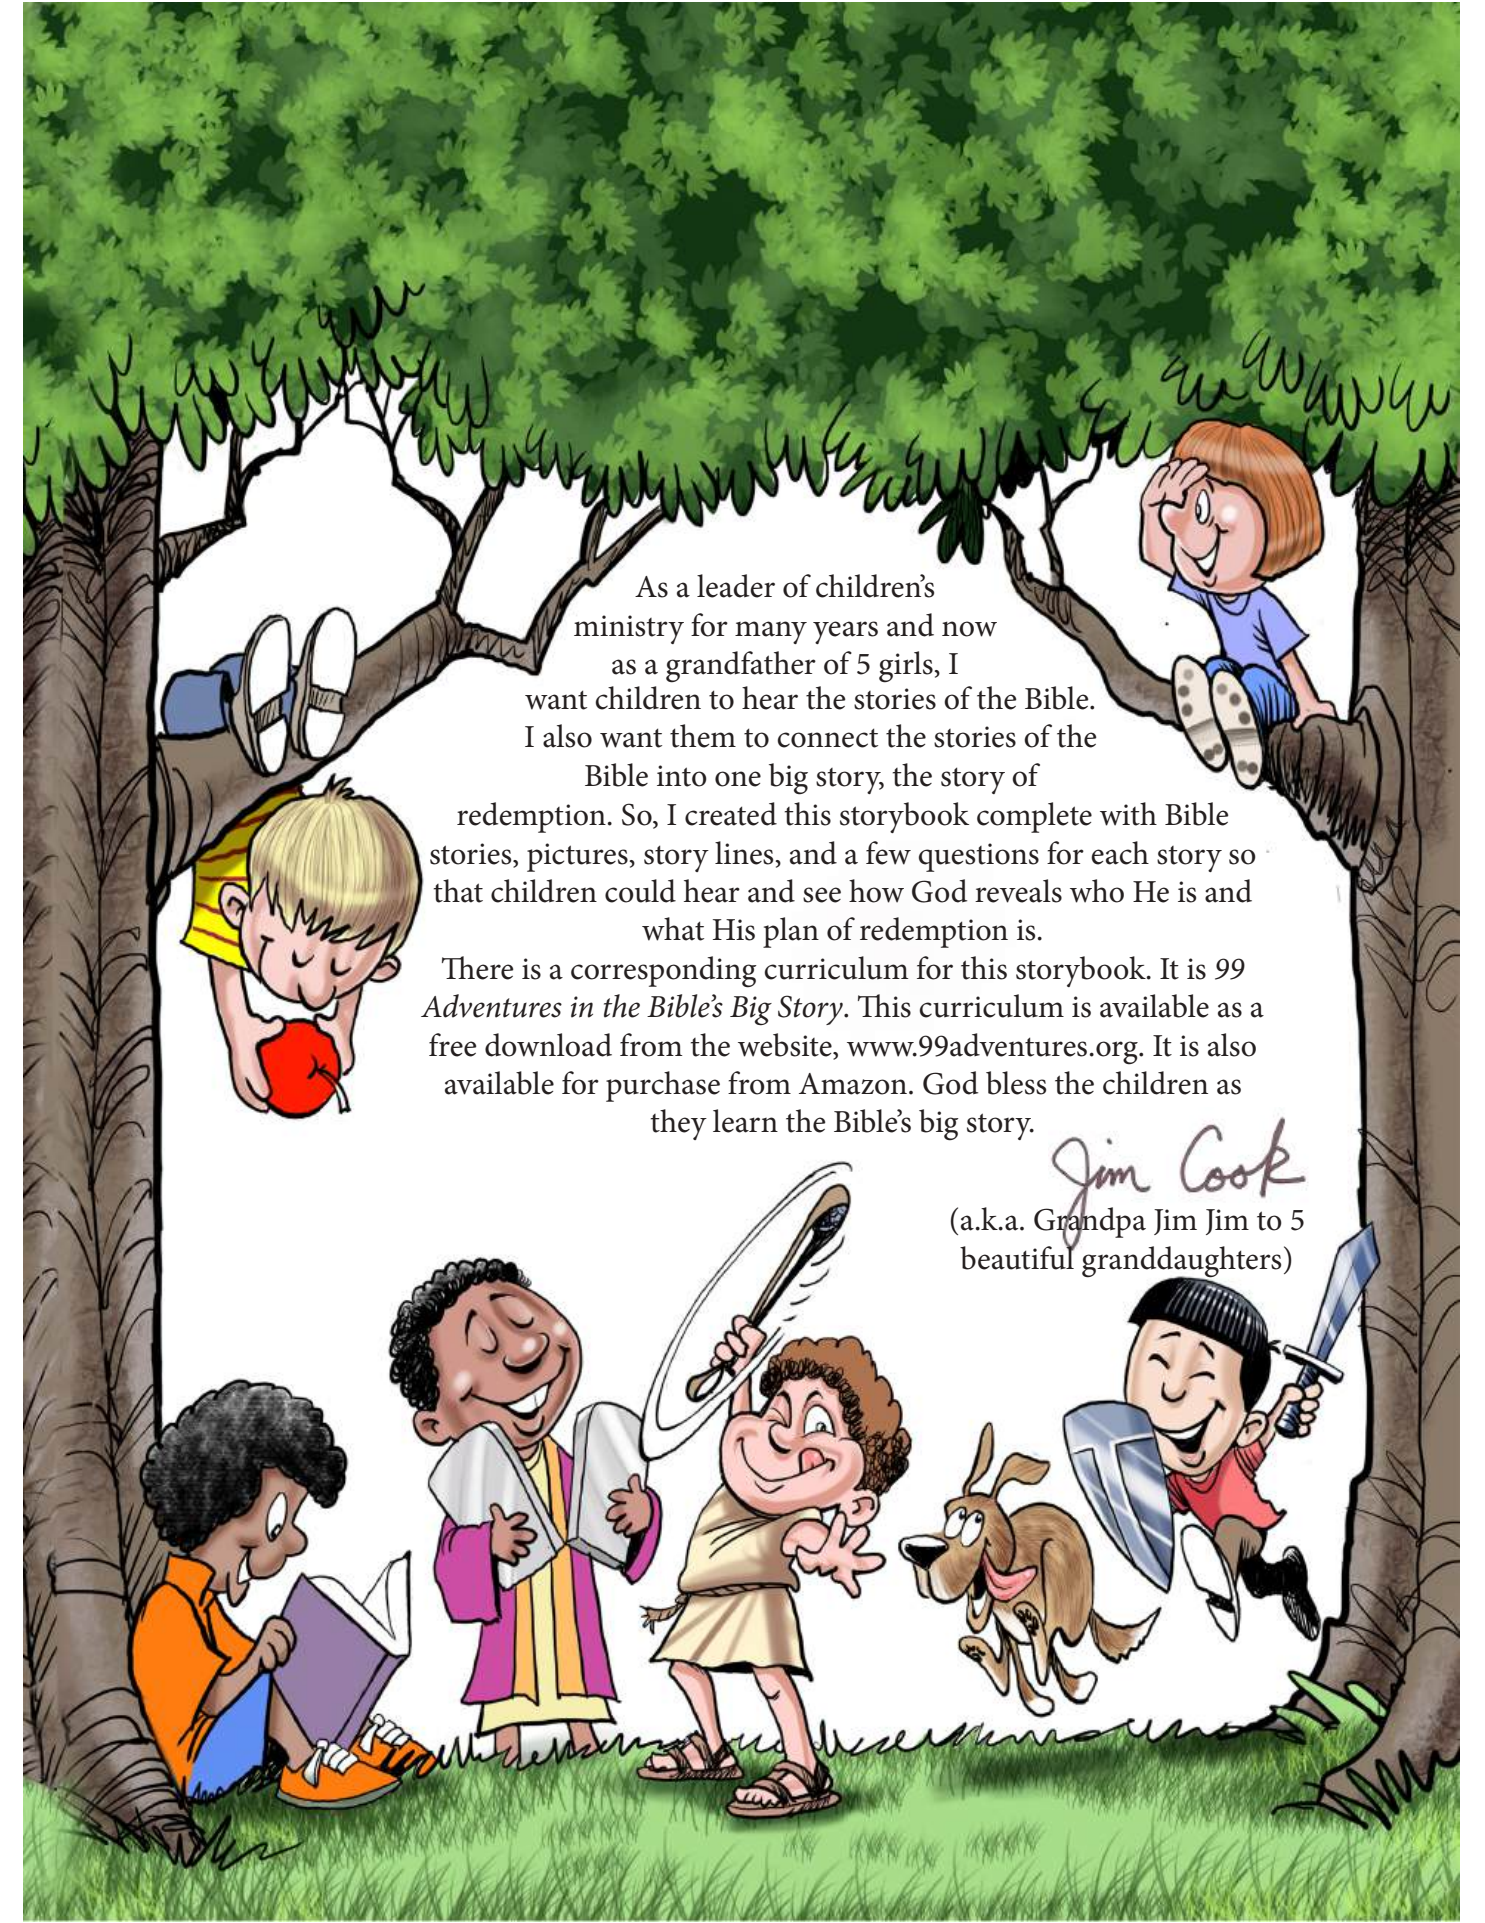

Children sometimes do not understand why the Bible was written. Many times, they do not understand how the stories relate to each other. The 99 Adventures curriculum and coloring book will help children understand one really important story ... the most important story that was ever told.

One way to use this coloring book is to read the story in the curriculum to your child or children then let them color the corresponding coloring book page. Others will want to teach 99 Adventures and use the coloring book page as their visual for the same lesson.

Various methods of evangelism have been presented and used over the years. If the Bible's redemptive story is taught chronologically, it will enable unbelievers and believers to understand the completed picture-the metanarrative of the Bible. There certainly is room for other types of gospel presentations. If the goal of sharing Christ with unbelievers is for them to cling to the gospel, then chronological Bible teaching as a method of evangelism should be pursued. Unbelievers will understand who the God of the Bible is and what He did when they see whole picture painted for them. That is what Jesus did for the two men on the road to Emmaus. He explained to them the things about Himself from the Law and the prophets. May God bless your chronological Bible teaching as you expose the great truth of redemption.

Permission is granted to make copies of all coloring book pages.

As a leader of children's ministry for many years and now as a grandfather of 5 girls, I want children to hear the stories of the Bible. I also want them to connect the stories of the Bible into one big story, the story of redemption. So, I created this storybook complete with Bible stories, pictures, story lines, and a few questions for each story so that children could hear and see how God reveals who He is and what His plan of redemption is.

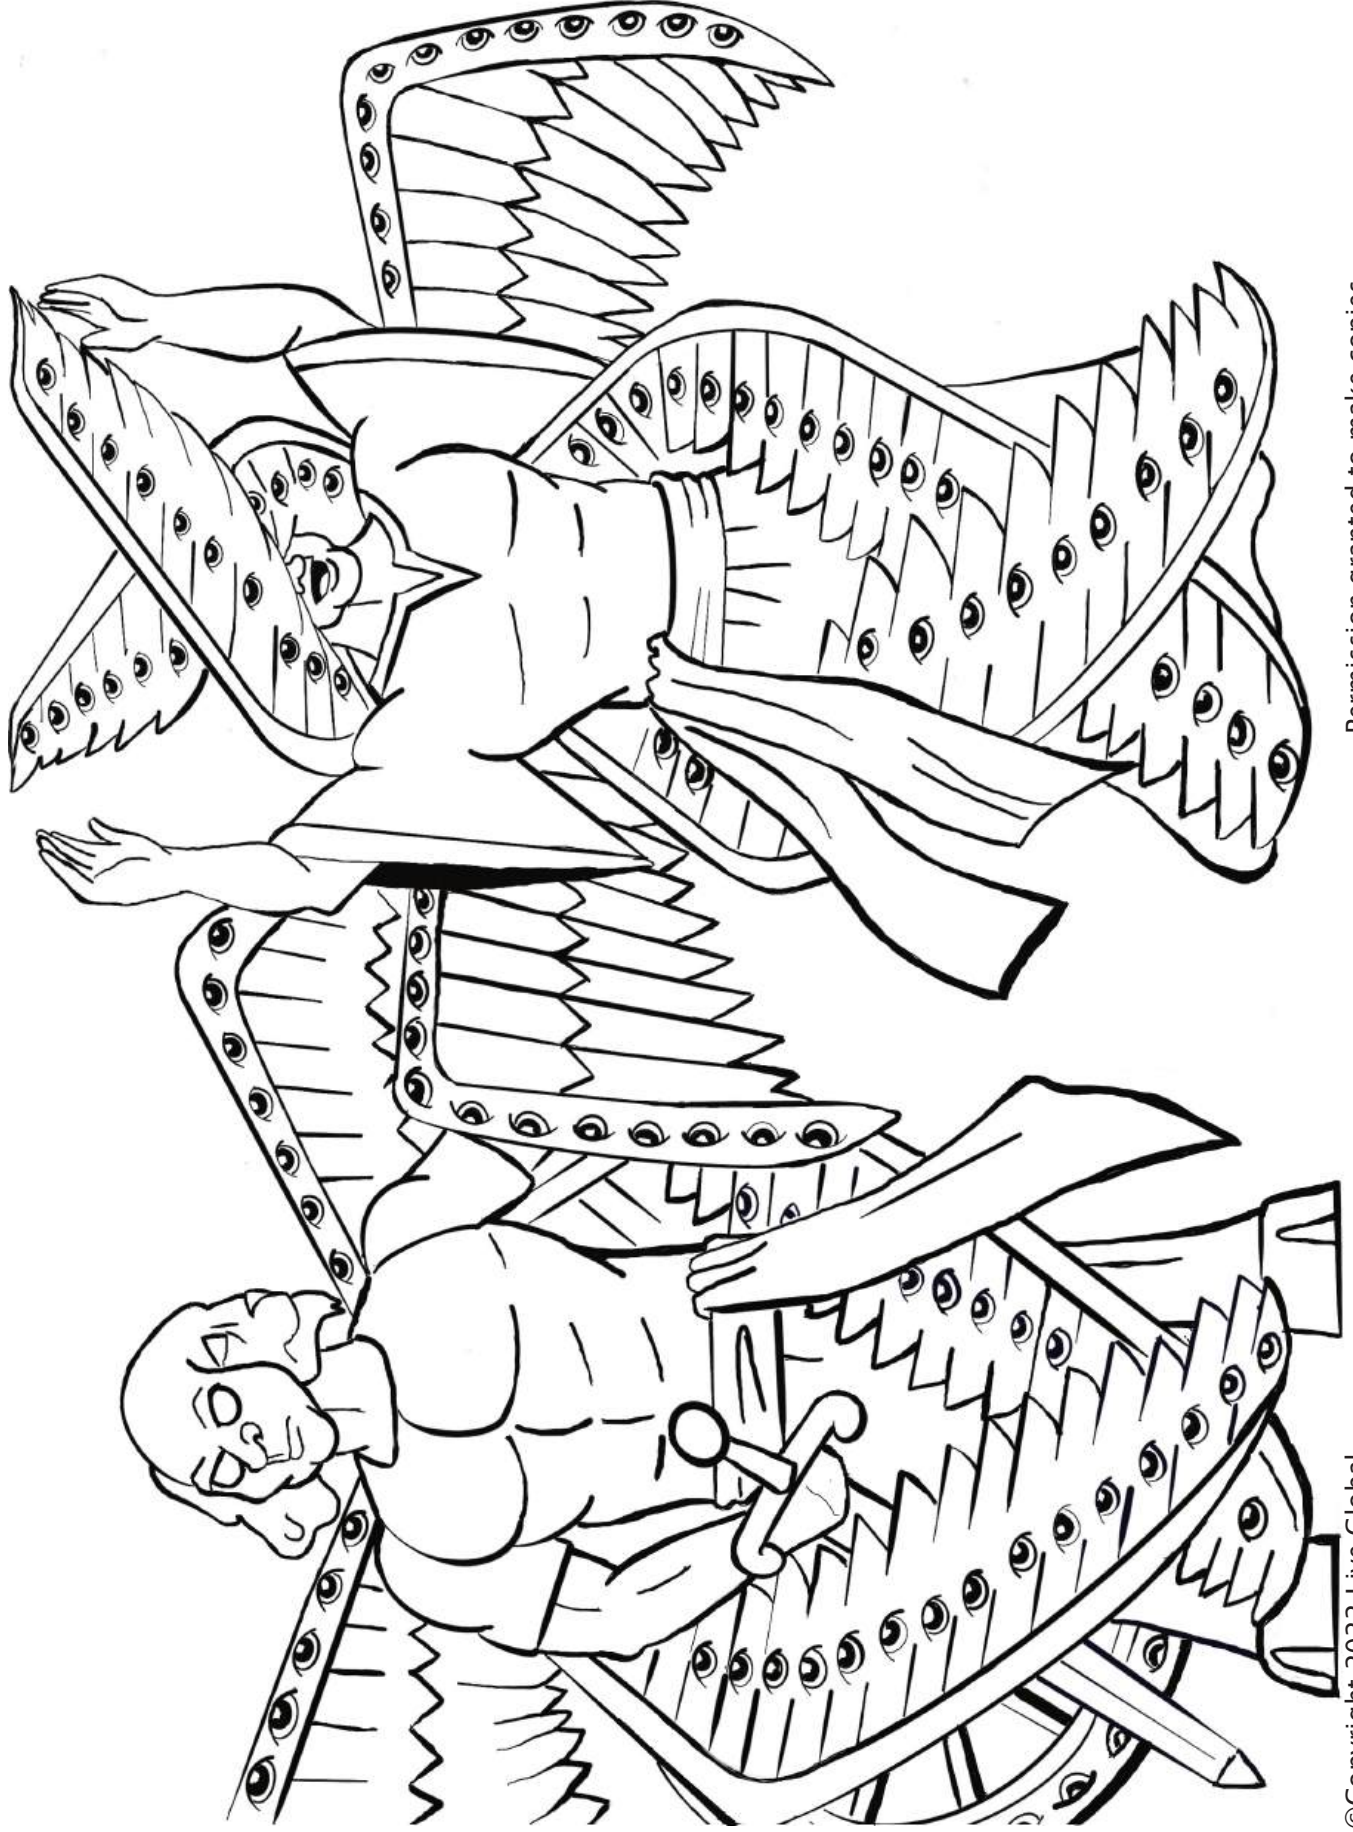

There is a corresponding curriculum for this storybook. It is 99 Adventures in the Bible's Big Story. This curriculum is available as a free download from the website, www.99adventures.org. It is also available for purchase from Amazon. God bless the children as they learn the Bible's big story.
